

INAUGURAL REPORT

Oregon Cultural Trust

FY 2003 – FY 2006

Grant dollars from the Cultural Trust are transformational. In historic Oregon City, they helped bring a more stable operating structure to separate organizations with marginal resources. As a result, we continue to share Oregon's earliest stories with tens of thousands of visitors, many of them students, every year.

September 2007

Dear Oregon Cultural Trust supporters and interested Oregonians:

With genuine pride we present the Oregon Cultural Trust's inaugural report from the launch of the Trust in December 2002 through June 30, 2006 (the end of fiscal year 2006). It features the people, the process, the challenges and the success stories.

While those years were difficult financial ones for the State, the Trust forged ahead in an inventive and creative manner. Our accomplishments were made possible by a small, agile and highly committed staff; a dedicated, hands-on board of directors; many enthusiastic partners throughout the state; and widespread public buy-in.

As this inaugural report shows, the measurable results, given the financial environment, are almost astonishing.

In brief, more than $10 million was raised; this came primarily from 10,500 donors who took advantage of Oregon's unique and generous cultural tax credit. It also came from those who purchased the cultural license plate, those who made gifts beyond the tax credit provision, and from foundations and in-kind corporate gifts.

Through June 30, 2006, 262 grants to statewide partners, county coalitions and cultural organizations in all parts of Oregon totaled $2,418,343. And the permanent endowment fund, including principal and earnings, totaled $5,902,641.

All 36 counties and nine federally recognized tribes now have a local Cultural Coalition, which the Trust supports annually. They, in turn, fund projects significant to their areas. In essence, they serve as the Cultural Trust's local representatives.

Within Oregon and beyond, the Oregon Cultural Trust is ranked among the most visionary of any state's cultural funding programs. We invite your continued support and welcome your suggestions. We are, after all, working together to ensure a vibrant cultural future for every Oregonian.

Sincerely,

Charles Walker
Board Chair
2003 – 2006

Christine D'Arcy
Executive Director

OREGON CULTURAL TRUST

ABOUT THE TRUST

The Oregon Legislature authorized the Oregon Cultural Trust with a near unanimous vote in July 2001. The enabling legislation includes three key elements:

GOVERNANCE: A board of nine, seven appointed by the Governor; one by the Speaker of the Oregon House of Representatives; one by the President of the Oregon Senate.

INCOME: Contributions using the cultural tax credit, cultural license plate sales, income from the sale of surplus state assets.

GRANTMAKING AND OPERATIONS: 58% to the permanent endowment, 34.5% for grantmaking, 7.5% for operations.

The Trust also seeks the counsel of Oregon's five statewide cultural partners.

September 2007

Greetings:

It is my sincere pleasure to introduce the Cultural Trust's inaugural report summarizing the achievements and activities that occurred between December 2002 and June 30, 2006.

The Oregon Cultural Trust is one of our state's hallmarks, ranking with the bottle and beach bills as emblematic of Oregon's values and stewardship. No other state has as well thought-out and comprehensive a program as our Cultural Trust with its innovative tax credit, county and tribal coalitions, and collaboration among Oregon's statewide cultural agencies.

Like the environment, Oregon's cultural ecology needs protection and sustenance, which it is now receiving through the grants awarded to cultural nonprofits in our communities and the growing permanent endowment of the Trust fund. Oregonians are proud of our culture. The donations made to the Trust by many thousands of individuals and businesses are helping it thrive.

The Oregon Cultural Trust has sent the Eugene Ballet and Oregon Book Award winners on tour across the state; it has allowed libraries to expand or build new facilities; it has supported preservation projects large and small; it has brought art into our public parks; it has funded projects for children and elders.

As you read this inaugural report, I urge you to renew your commitment to culture in Oregon by donating to the Trust this year and every year. Tell your friends and neighbors, family and colleagues, because culture touches us all every day, often in unexpected but vital ways.

Sincerely,

Theodore R. Kulongoski
Governor

VISION

Oregon's cultural resources – the arts, heritage and the humanities – are strong and dynamic contributors to Oregon's communities and quality of life.

MISSION

To enhance the lives of Oregonians by implementing a sustainable public-private integrated cultural funding program that will support, stabilize and protect Oregon culture: the humanities, heritage and the arts. The Trust will expand public awareness of, quality of, access to and use of culture in Oregon.

* A downturn in Oregon's economy resulted in the Oregon legislature's passage of SB 859, which reallocated more than $3.3 million in funds from the sale of surplus state land in Boardman from the Cultural Trust to the state's General Fund. The bill allowed the Trust to distribute $693,000 in FY 2003 grants in May 2003, resulting in the suspension of grantmaking in FY 2004.

Cultural Coalitions Bring Trust Funding to the Community Level

2005 Polk County Cultural Coalition members and grant recipients gather in front of Shelley Socolofsky's Soliloquy, installed at the Hamersly Library at Western Oregon University. The tapestry was a One Percent for Art commission.

The Oregon Cultural Trust is built on innovation. Among its most remarkable features is the creation of cultural coalitions in each of the state's 36 counties and nine federally recognized tribes. The formation of the coalitions allowed cultural inventories and plans to be developed specific to each locality. The process fostered communication among diverse groups and created a cultural framework that did not exist before. The coalitions, comprised of volunteers from all walks of life, have one thing in common: commitment to a thriving cultural environment in every part of Oregon.

The coalition program is intended to increase public participation in all that is culture, by preserving the past while investing in the future. It fosters the development of a unique cultural identity. Over time, Oregonians will be able to tell the story of their own cultural growth.

With a Trust-approved cultural plan, each coalition is eligible for an annual Cultural Participation Grant. These grants – an equal base amount for each coalition ($3,000 in FY 2003 and $5,000 in FY 2005 and FY 2006) plus a multiplier based on population – allow Trust dollars to reach broadly and deeply across the state and to strengthen cultural programs that have an immediate impact on the community. Cultural Participation Grants account for a third of the funds distributed by the Trust each year.

Cultural coalitions regrant Trust funds according to their individual plans, grant guidelines and schedules. FY 2003 grants supported cultural planning and the development of the coalitions. No grants were awarded in 2004.

Examples of FY 2005 Cultural Coalition regranting included:

- Malheur County, $500 to sponsor a lecture and workshop by noted Eugene potter Hank Morrow that attracted attendees from throughout the county.
- Tillamook County, $1,800 to allow continuation of the schools' arts literacy program.
- Washington County, $1,000 for signage and outdoor lighting at the Tualatin Heritage Center.
- Lane County, $1,500 to Dance Theatre of Oregon for educational outreach to 30 schools, benefiting 10,500 students, teachers and parents.

And FY 2006:

- Harney County, $1,300 to bring classical musicians to Burns for performances and educational outreach.
- Hood River County, $2,000 for a repeater to allow Radio Tierra's signal to reach Latino listeners in Parkdale and Odell.
- Marion County, $2,000 to purchase 11 tents for the World Beat Festival attended by over 40,000 people.
- Jackson County, $1,000 to provide six hours of extra rehearsal and coaching for every musician in the Youth Symphony of Southern Oregon.

Cultural Partners Strengthen Statewide Efforts

The Oregon Cultural Trust works hand in hand with five statewide cultural entities that share the Trust's mission to support arts, heritage and humanities across Oregon. These partners – Oregon Council for the Humanities, Oregon Historical Society, Oregon Arts Commission, Oregon Heritage Commission and State Historic Preservation Office – provide services and programs and, in many cases, offer grants that invest in Oregon's cultural endeavors. The cultural partners receive one-third of the funds distributed by the Trust each year to augment and expand the activities they conduct on behalf of Oregonians. Twenty percent of the partner funds are reserved for projects that address common cultural needs and that the partners undertake as a group. Since FY 2003, those projects have included a Cultural Summit, the revival of Oregon's poet laureate program and the early development of an Oregon Encyclopedia for History and Culture.

The heritage partners have used grant funds to plan for Oregon's sesquicentennial celebration in 2009; for technical workshops to improve skills and organizational ability within the field; and to expand the online resource, the Oregon Historical Society's award-winning Oregon History Project. With Trust grants, the Humanities Council has been able to double the Oregon Chautauqua program of free lectures on a wide range of subjects, reaching more than 7,000 people across the state. The Oregon Arts Commission used Trust funds to support Artist Fellowships and to design and implement a new Arts Recognition Grant program for small and emerging arts groups.

Partner grants amplify the Trust's commitment to support cultural organizations with flexibility and creativity. The Trust is a vital supporter of these statewide cultural institutions. In FY 2005 and FY 2006, the only state funds received by the Oregon Historical Society and the Oregon Council for the Humanities came through the Cultural Trust.

Cultural Development Grants: High Profile, High Impact

Cultural Development Grants – grants awarded to cultural nonprofits through a competitive application process – provide state recognition of and support for significant arts, heritage and humanities programs across the state. These single-year grants fund specific projects that bring cultural opportunity to more Oregonians or that preserve important cultural assets.

In the Trust's first month of fundraising – December 2002 – Oregonians donated more than $1 million to support Oregon culture. This sense of urgent need was matched by pent-up demand from cultural organizations: more than 181 cultural nonprofits requested $5.3 million from the Trust in its first year.

The Trust responded with an accelerated grant cycle. Within six months of the fundraising launch, the Trust's first Cultural Development Grants, for FY 2003, were announced. $214,000 was awarded to 27 cultural organizations in 17 communities. Those projects, funded at $2,000 to $20,000, included the restoration of Astoria's historic Liberty Theater, Eugene Symphony tours to rural counties, and the conservation of Native American baskets at the Columbia Gorge Discovery Center and Museum.

In FY 2005, the Trust announced $239,100 in Cultural Development Grants to 27 cultural nonprofits. That year's projects included an exhibit on historic maps of the Lewis & Clark expedition at Bend's High Desert Museum, the development of the Clackamas Heritage Partners from three separate nonprofits in Oregon City, and a series of piano concerts by André Watts at the Britt Festival in Jacksonville.

The number of Cultural Development Grants for FY 2006 jumped significantly – to 58 – for a total of $415,646 in awards. The largest, $25,000, went to a major restoration project at Salem's Mission Mill Museum. Other projects included a capital campaign that allowed the Tillamook Library to move out of a converted car dealership into an expansive, modern facility and significant funding for the Portland Institute for Contemporary Art's Time-Based Art Festival (TBA), a citywide, international arts festival.

The history of Cultural Development Grants, organized by community, for fiscal years 2003, 2005 and 2006 follows.

By funding the artistic projects that are the reason for our being, the Trust takes the right approach to cultural funding. The progressive Trust program should be more widely adopted across the U.S. Hooray for the Oregon Cultural Trust – a shimmer of hope.

HISTORY OF THE OREGON CULTURAL TRUST

DECEMBER 31, 2005

Oregonians contribute over $2.3 million to the Trust.

FEBRUARY 17, 2006

Cultural partners use Cultural Trust funds to revive the position of Oregon poet laureate, vacant since 1989. Governor Ted Kulongoski appoints Lawson Fusao Inada Oregon’s fifth poet laureate.

Individual donors to the Trust may claim a cultural tax credit of up to $500; couples filing jointly, up to $1,000. From December 2002 through June 30, 2006, 10,500 individual donors took advantage of the cultural tax credit in order to strengthen arts, heritage and humanities across Oregon. Their support speaks to a determination to preserve and advance our shared cultural traditions for future generations.

It is the Trust's intention to provide a complete and accurate list of donors from December 1, 2002 through June 30, 2006. We apologize for any omissions or errors. If you find a mistake, please let us know right away so we can update our database and note the correction in the FY 2007 report.

How to Give to the Oregon Cultural Trust

First, become a member of or donate to any number of Oregon's 1,100 arts, heritage or humanities nonprofits. Next, make a matching gift of up to $500 for individuals, $1,000 for couples filing jointly, or $2,500 for corporations to the Oregon Cultural Trust. Do both by December 31 each year. Then, at tax time, claim the cultural tax credit on your state return to reduce your Oregon taxes by 100% of your Trust gift. The money raised by the Trust returns to Oregon communities in the form of grants.

Drive Culture

Income from the sale of a cultural license plate was an integral part of the financial planning for the Cultural Trust. The first 20 plates were released on February 5, 2003. Since then, the Trust has received the $30 surcharge from the sale of every cultural (CV) license plate at the DMV.

The plate, designed by Portland artist Kelly Kievet in open competition, is deliberately abstract since a single image or icon could not possibly represent the breadth of Oregon's arts, heritage and humanities. It swirls with many different colors – red, yellow, orange, blue and purple – and, according to the artist, represents Oregon's culture as “dynamic ... bright and energetic.”

By July 31, 2003, sales of cultural license plates had generated $58,460.16 in income for the Trust. Sales accelerated to $245,494.95 in FY 2006 and will continue to climb as new and renewing owners make the cultural plate more visible on Oregon highways and byways.
